

Associate Degree Nursing Program Application Instructions – Traditional Track

Selective Program

The Associate Degree Nursing (ADN) Program is a selective program which requires students to meet all program application requirements before being eligible to apply. To be considered for program pre-admission, applications must be submitted during the application periods. Due to limited resources, some applicants who meet all program application requirements may not be pre-admitted to the program for the current application period.

Associate Degree Nursing – Traditional Track Timeline

Due to COVID-19 Pandemic Timeline is subject to change. Please view updates on the website.

Program Selection Process

The ADN Program selection process is Competitive Entry and is based on a competitive Point System. Points are awarded on pre-requisite courses, passing HESI scores, STC Cumulative GPA, and other additional points. There is a Cutoff Score each application period based on the applicant pool, the number of slots available, and varies per application period. Qualified applicants are ranked from highest to lowest points and pre-admission is based solely on this ranking.

Notification of Application Status

Applicants will be notified of application status through Jag email. Applicants with total points above the cutoff score will be pre-admitted and applicants with total points below the cutoff score will be denied. Applicants with total points equal to the cutoff score will be designated as alternates. Should any of the pre-admitted applicants decline pre-admission, an alternate will be offered pre-admission to the program contingent of the Math Policy requirement. A random draw (through a lottery system) of alternate applicants will be used as needed.

Dosage and Calculation Math Policy

Proficiency in math and dosage calculation is an integral part of safe nursing care. Admitted and Alternate students in the ADN Program will be required to achieve a 100% proficiency in one (1) of the three (3) math exam attempts. Once the student achieves a 100% proficiency, he/she is not required to take the remaining exams. The student who does not achieve a 100% on one of the Math attempts will forfeit their slot in the program and it will be offered to an Alternate student who has passed one of the Math exams. Math Modules are available at the Center for Learning Excellence (CLE) or request one through email at adninfo@southtexascollege.edu

Application Instructions

The applicant is responsible for submitting all the required information and documents through the ADN online application. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Application – Instructions and Checklist

Please read instructions carefully. Use checklist to gather the necessary documentation before beginning the online application.
